Seminar paper del año 2003 en el tema Economía de las empresas - Política económica, Nota: 1,0, Universidad de Almería (Ciencias Economicas y Empresariales), Materia: Economía Política, Idioma: Español, Resumen: Actualmente el gobierno de la República Federal de Alemania se encuentra en una situación difícil: · La coyuntura se baja desde hace unos años; · La Comisión Europea puso en marcha la segunda etapa del procedimiento contra Alemania por haber superado "ampliamente" en 2002 el límite de déficit fijado en el Tratado de Maastricht. · Los sistemas de aseguramiento sociales (caja de pensiones, déficit de los seguros de enfermedad obligatorios, oficinas de empleo) están exigido demasiado; · Además las últimas encuestas dicen que la población no es feliz con sus gobernadores y por lo tanto no eligía los mismos partidos (SPD y Grüne) otra vez, que desesfuerza su situación adicionalmente; Como consecuencia la confianza en la economía alemana está en una crisis. Por ello, el objetivo que se fijado en este trabajo, es dar una impresión, a mis compañeros de clase “Economía Política”, de la situación actual de Alemania, y por otro lado discutir unos soluciones para salir de la crisis. Sin embargo, desde mi punto de vista, para lograr este objetivo, considero oportuno presentar de forma breve en un primer capitulo los datos generales del país. Primeramente se analizarán las razones para los problemáticas de cada uno de los sectores de la economía alemana, en concreto la coyuntura, el mercado de trabajo, los precios y los sistemas de seguridad social. Por último se derivarán y presentarán los requisitos de la política para solucionar la situación. El trabajo termina con una conclusión crítica en la cual, los resultados de cada capítulo se resumen uno a uno. These proceedings represent the work of researchers participating in the 9th European Conference on Intellectual Capital (ECIC 2017) which is being hosted this year by the Instituto Universitário de Lisboa (ISCTE-IUL) on 6-7 April 2017. ECIC is a recognised event on the international research conferences calendar and provides a valuable platform for individuals to present their research findings, display their work in progress and discuss conceptual and empirical advances in the area of Intellectual Capital. It provides an important opportunity for researchers and practitioners to come together to share their experiences of researching in this varied and expanding field. The conference this year will be opened with a keynote presentation by Dr José María Viedma Martí from U.P.C., Polytechnic University of Catalonia in Barcelona, Spain and Prof. Maria Do Rosario Cabrita from Universidade Nova de Lisboa, Portugal who will together be talking about The Practice of Intellectual Capital in the Fourth Industrial Revolution. The second day of the conference will be opened by Dr Gregorio Martín-de Castro, from Complutense University of Madrid, Spain, who will address the topic Intellectual Capital: Linking Theory and Practice. With an initial submission of 98 abstracts, after the double blind, peer-review process there are 42 academic Research papers, 2 PhD Research, 1 Masters Research and 1 Work in Progress papers published in these Conference Proceedings. These papers represent truly global research in the field, with contributions from Australia, Colombia, Croatia, Egypt, Finland, France, Greece, Iran, Italy, Kazakhstan, Latvia, Lithuania, Poland, Portugal, Romania, Russia, South Africa, Spain, The Netherlands, Turkey, United Arab Emirates, UK and USA. "Questo testo rappresenta il frutto delle riflessioni indotte da una pratica sportiva ventennale vissuta in prima persona e dietro le quinte". This book brings together up-to-date findings on the regional dimensions of European labour markets. It provides a conceptual and empirical study of the interactions between the European economy and its regions, paying particular attention to the issue of the transition of Central and Eastern European countries to a market economy. The topics analysed include: the structure of the shocks affecting employment (regional, industrial, national), the relationships between labour market efficiency and the regional distribution of unemployment, wage flexibility in EU member countries or in their regions and the role of active labour market policies in affecting the regional distribution of employment and unemployment. 1047.12 365.918 This book outlines the possibilities and perspectives of an intertwining of European integration historiography with the history and concept of capitalism. Although debates on capitalism have been making a comeback since the 2008 crisis, to date the concept of capitalism remains almost completely avoided by historians of European integration. This book thus conceptualizes 'capitalism' as a useful analytical tool that should be used by historians of European integration and proposes three major approaches for them to do so: first, by bringing the question of social conflict, integral to the concept of capitalism, into European integration history; second, by better conceptualizing the link between European governance, Europeanization and the globalization of capitalism; and thirdly by investigating the economic, political and ideological models or doctrines that underlie European cooperation, integration, policies and institutions. This analytical encounter between European integration history and capitalism allows for a better understanding of how today's "Europe" resulted from a complex social, economic and political conflict that took place in part at the European level. The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the journal, the European Review of History. The accession of ten new members to the European Union on May 1st 2004 was among the most significant developments in the history of European integration. Based upon studies conducted by the European Forecasting Network, this 2006 book analysed key aspects of the impact of this enlargement with reference to eight of the ten new Member States, namely the Central and Eastern European countries (CEECs). It demonstrated that the enlargement had the potential to create profound consequences for both the new Member States and the pre-accession members of the Union, given the unparalleled magnitude of the enlargement, the fact that the CEECs had levels of prosperity and economic development well below the Union average, and their history of participation in centrally planned regimes. The contributions examined regional policy, the debate about accession to the EMU, the macroeconomic trajectories of the Central and Eastern European economies and their likely development. La penetración de las tecnologías de la información en los diversos ámbitos de la vida cotidiana está produciendo profundos cambios en todos los sectores; en algunos, particularmente en la televisión digital, se están viviendo momentos decisivos que conformarán un nuevo sistema comunicativo social. En este contexto, las televisiones locales serán unos agentes privilegiados para la formación de ese nuevo sistema audiovisual más acorde con las sociedades actuales, pero para conseguirlo es necesario acabar con la situación de incertidumbre normativa en que la actitud errática de la administración les ha obligado a sobrevivir desde que hace ya veinte años aparecieron las primeras televisiones locales en nuestro país. El libro hace un recorrido por la historia de la televisión, analizando el contexto socioeconómico, político y comunicativo en que se implantó y se ha venido desarrollando para caracterizar su momento actual. El texto se complementa con el informe detallado de la situación en que se encuentra el conjunto de las televisiones locales que operan en la provincia de Castellón, como muestra significativa de la crítica posición en que está el sector para afrontar la inminente transición a la TDT (televisión digital terrestre) que se le ha impuesto con tanta urgencia y que va acabar por determinar el equilibrio y la pluralidad de nuestro sistema comunicativo durante los próximos años y, en definitiva, el modelo de desarrollo futuro de nuestra sociedad. This volume illustrates and deepens the understanding of current agrarian dynamics developing in Mediterranean countries in the light of recent theoretical contributions. The book compiles and analyses a set of Mediterranean case studies that show the range of transformations shaping contemporary agriculture in Southern Europe. This book presents an overview of the scientific study of public management, gathering together some of the most authoritative experts in this area of study in Europe and the United States, writing specifically about their respective countries. These essays seek to present the national distinctiveness of the study of public management, in the context of specific state administration. This book goes further than some previous books concerning public management by highlighting the underlying differences between Europe and the United States and amongst European countries, in relation to their particular political-administrative circumstances. The aim of this book is to establish a dialogue between Anglo-American and European approaches to public management, to encourage readers to see their own national ideas and practises in contrast to others and foster leaning by asking repeatedly 'compared to what?' The Balkan countries have been looking for good examples and ideas to pursue development and internal integration in destabilized and ethnically complex and conflicting areas. This book about transformation in the framework of European outlines the path of the Balkans to European integration. A selection of 23 papers from a June 2003 conference in Bologna examine whether there is a relationship between company strategies and the quality of working life, and if so, how this relationship can be characterized; and whether there is empirical evidence to support a distinction between a high-r In this book, legal scholars from the EU Member States (with the addition of the UK) analyse the development of the EU Member States' attitudes to economic, fiscal, and monetary integration since the Treaty of Maastricht. The Eurozone crisis corroborated the warnings of economists that weak economic policy coordination and loose fiscal oversight would be insufficient to stabilise the monetary union. The country studies in this book investigate the legal, and in particular the constitutional, pre-conditions for deeper fiscal and monetary integration that influenced the past and might impact on the future positions in the (now) 27 EU Member States. The individual country studies address the following issues: - Main characteristics of the national constitutional system, and constitutional culture; - Constitutional foundations of Economic and Monetary Union (EMU) membership and related instruments; - Constitutional obstacles to EMU integration; - Constitutional rules and/or practice on implementing EMU-related law; and - The resulting relationship between EMU-related law and national law Offering a comprehensive and detailed assessment of the legal and constitutional developments concerning the Economic and Monetary Union since the Treaty of Maastricht, this book provides not only a study of legal EMU-related measures and reforms at the EU level, but most importantly sheds light on their perception in the EU Member States. 365.1046 365.641

In a moment where the EU is facing an important number of challenges, there is growing interest in understanding how parties influence the way Europe evolves as a political issue, notably how parties structure domestic competition over European issues and they mobilise sentiments in referenda over European integration . This book examines the views of national parties towards the European Union and the different facets of a supranational citizenship. It provides an in-depth investigation into the variations to the cross-national patterns in ten countries, including old and new member states and different EU regions. Using original and innovative concepts, data and research techniques the authors: Explore whether parties formulate specific positions and preferences on the most particular aspects of the EU process. Investigate whether the party's stance could be inserted into more pro-European, or more Eurosceptical attitudes. Illustrate patterns of party contestation of the EU issues in the member states and explains these patterns in the light of the main theoretical arguments. Making an important contribution to party attitudes towards the EU and the Europeanisation of party politics, this book will be of interest to students and scholars of European politics, sociology, comparative politics, government and party politics Focusing upon the rich interplay between ongoing institutional and technological changes, the dynamics of national industrial systems and the modifications in policy instruments of the new economic framework of the common market and the single currency, European Economies in Transition addresses key issues for growth and convergence. A set of methodologies highlighting the structural aspects and discontinuities in such dynamics reveals new features of transition processes experienced by some of the most advanced Western economies. This work contains the updated papers presented at the Conference "How Did They Become Voters? The History of Franchise in Modern European Representational Systems", which was organized under the auspices of the European University Institute and held on 20-22 April 1995 in Florence. It examines the basic mechanisms regulating electoral processes in many countries, both in Europe and the rest of the world, in the 19th and 20th centuries. Bringing together renowned scholars in the field with younger researchers, this interdisciplinary study of the history of post-war industrial policy in Europe investigates transfers across borders and locates industrial policy in the context of the Cold War from a global perspective. This edited volume aims at exploring the uniqueness and complexity of European CSR approaches, perspectives, and practices through a critical lens. The papers collected in this volume are those presented at the fifteenth Colloquium arranged by the Societe Universitaire Europeenne de Recherches Financieres (SUERF), which took place in Nice in October 1989. The Society is supported by a large number of central banks and commercial banks, by other financial and business institutions and by personal subscriptions from academics and others interested in monetary and financial problems. Since its establishment in 1963, it has developed as a forum for the exchange of information, research results and ideas among academics and practitioners in these fields, including central bank officials and civil servants responsible for formulating and applying monetary and financial policies, national and international. A major activity of SUERF is to organise and conduct Colloquia on subjects of topical interest to its members. The titles, places and dates of previous Colloquia for which volumes of the collected papers were published are noted on the last page of this volume. Volumes were not produced for Colloquia held at Tarragona, Spain in October 1970 under the title 'Monetary Policy and New Developments in Banking' and at Strasbourg, France in January 1972 under the title 'Aspects of European Monetary Union'. Nel presente elaborato si cerca di analizzare la situazione della filiera produttiva e di vendita dei prodotti da fumo (aggiornata al 2017)– in particolare di sigarette che rappresentano il 93% del totale – che negli ultimi anni ha subito una drastica riduzione: -8%, portando le qualità consumate a 78,7 milioni di chilogrammi, un livello che non si toccava da più di quarant'anni. Le cause alla base di tale diminuzione sono molteplici, ma sono tutte accomunate da fattori economici come l'incremento dell'IVA e la sostituzione con prodotti più convenienti (come i trinciati per sigarette RYO, cresciuti all'opposto del 44%), anche se quello che desta più preoccupazione è sicuramente il dilagare del commercio illecito di prodotti da fumo, che dal 3,3% delle vendite legali nel 2011 è passato al 10% nel 2012 del mercato legale. La riduzione produttiva intervenuta nelle fasi a monte della filiera, sia sul versante agricolo che manifatturiero, ha purtroppo avuto riflessioni anche sul fronte occupazionale: la riduzione dei tabacchicoltori, delle superfici investite e di conseguenza dei quantitativi prodotti, ha comportato un calo degli addetti nelle attività, dirette e indirette, collegate alla coltivazione e prima trasformazione del tabacco.

1240.2.11 Nell'ambito del programma INTERREG II C MEDOC, progetto Paesaggi Mediterranei ed Alpini, coordinato dalla Regione Sardegna, a cui hanno collaborato diverse regioni italiane, francesi e spagnole, il Ministero per i Beni e le Attività Culturali - Ufficio Centrale per i Beni Ambientali e Paesaggistici - ha affidato alla Scuola di Specializzazione in Architettura del Paesaggio, della Facoltà di Architettura, Dipartimento POLIS dell'Università di Genova, uno studio articolato in due fasi: una di analisi e una di valutazione del paesaggio, mirate all'individuazione di linee guida per operazioni di progettazione e proposte di gestione del paesaggio. Il percorso metodologico elaborato è stato applicato a due casi di studio: il primo relativo a un territorio dell'entroterra ligure, situato a est di Genova (la Val Bisagno) e il secondo relativo ad un'area costiera sottoposta a rapide trasformazioni (la fascia costiera occidentale del Ponente genovese di Voltri-Vesima). Il lavoro è stato sviluppato, sulla base della ricerca MURST Metodologia per la redazione di un Atlante dei paesaggi italiani, assumendo come riferimento principale la Convenzione Europea del Paesaggio elaborata dal Congresso dei Poteri Locali e Regionali del Consiglio d'Europa, per mettere a punto e definire linee d'azione comuni che contribuiscano alla conoscenza dei paesaggi europei, al consolidamento della loro identità naturale e culturale, all'individuazione di strumenti e interventi diversificati per la loro conservazione, protezione, creazione, gestione attiva. Lo studio è stato svolto con specifico riferimento al tema della tutela paesistica per rispondere ai seguenti obiettivi: -la comprensione delle interrelazioni esistenti tra sistemi naturali e sistemi antropici che connotano il paesaggio; -la lettura/conoscenza/interpretazione del paesaggio come processo dinamico ad evoluzione continua (con particolare attenzione ai processi antropici), che contiene le testimonianze del passato e le indicazioni per le trasformazioni future; -la comprensione dei processi di trasformazione e sviluppo del paesaggio necessaria per la definizione di strumenti utili alla descrizione e gestione di tali trasformazioni; -la definizione di indirizzi di pianificazione coerenti con i caratteri strutturali dell'area.

This edited collection offers a new approach to the study of Italy's foreign policy from the 1960s to the end of the Cold War, highlighting its complex and sometimes ambiguous goals, due to the intricacies of its internal system and delicate position in the fault line of the East-West and North-South divides. According to received opinion, during the Cold War era Italy was more an object rather than a factor in active foreign policy, limiting itself to paying lip service to the Western alliance and the European integration process, without any pretension to exerting a substantial international influence. Eleven contributions by leading Italian historians reappraise Italy's international role, addressing three complex and intertwined issues, namely, the country's political-diplomatic dimension; the economic factors affecting Rome's international stance; and Italy's role in new approaches to the international system and the influence of political parties' cultures in the nation's foreign policy.
